“Oops! I spilled!”

Do you know how to clean up a spill from your beautiful carpet? The first and most important step for preventing a spill from turning into a stain is by blotting up as much moisture as you possibly can.

If there are solids, scrape them up and blot with lots of clean towels. Paper towels work well. One key pointer: do not rub! If you're thinking of using spot remover, wait until you have thoroughly blotted the area. You probably know that club soda is an instant spot remover. Pour a little on the spot, wait a few seconds, and blot the area.

I promise that if you invite me over to talk about buying or selling real estate that I'll be neat. And, I promise the best real estate service available.

May 4th is Bird Day.

If you love birds and the beauty of nature, then you may wish to celebrate this day, named in honor of John James Audubon. As he attended school in France, he discovered his love for drawing and painting. He often spent a day in the woods, watching birds and drawing them.

Watching the birds was hard work! He finished two hundred drawings and paintings of birds before he was sixteen. As a reward for his good work in school, his father gave him a trip to America. It was on that trip he discovered the adventure of traveling and painting his way across America.

I'm going to pay special attention to the birds, and to the beautiful surroundings in our neighborhood as spring unfolds. If you or a friend would like to embark on an adventure of finding a home or selling a home, be sure to call me.

Working without my professional assistance is for the birds!
